Root Would Accept Senatorship from South End.

Mr. Editor:
Your kindly mention of my name for senator from the south end of Orleans county was indeed a surprise to me. I never desired nor asked for any office, but if my friends would like to have me serve them in this capacity, I would be pleased to do so to the best of my ability. It has been 24 years since Craftsburg has sent a senator, Amory Davison. Every other town in the county except Westfield, has been represented.

Very truly yours,
Charles H. Root,
North Craftsburg, Vt., Dec. 24, 1915.

J. F. Batchelder Sells Business.

After a period of nearly 30 years as a clothing merchant in Barton, J. F. Batchelder has sold his stock in trade to Dean P. McLellan, a Barton man, who has had several years experience in the clothing business in Hanover, N. H., and other towns, as well as in the McLoud company store where he has been employed until that firm closed its store here on Jan. 1st. Mr. Batchelder is one of the few merchants now in business here, who can look back over a period of nearly thirty consecutive years of Barton's business history. He came here in 1886 at the time when the Pierce-Barrows block was being completed, and working for O. D. Owen, helped Mr. Owen move into this building. Later Mr. Batchelder became manager for the Orcutt Clothing company, in a part of the store now occupied by C. A. Barrows & Son. Buying out the business from Mr. Orcutt, Mr. Batchelder continued in the same store until about seven years ago, when he purchased the Nelson block and moved his business to its present location. Mr. Batchelder has felt that his other business needed his full attention and having the opportunity to sell to a Barton man, whom he felt would be a credit to the business and town, he did so, and with the business and good will, he bespeaks for the new owner a large measure of success and the continued patronage of old customers as well as the addition of many new patrons, whom he is sure will find courtesy and prompt attention from the new management. Amos R. Robinson, who has been with Mr. Batchelder the past seven years and proved himself to be a very efficient salesman, will remain with the new management.
